

European Parliament displays EU and Ukrainian flags in support of Ukraine

February 24, 2025

EU and Ukrainian flags will be flown at the European Parliament's three sites from Sunday 23 February to Tuesday 25 February, marking three years since Russia's unprovoked, unjustified and illegal attack against Ukraine on 24 February 2022.

Special set-ups of both EU and Ukraine flags will be flown in front of the EP SPAAK building in Brussels, the WEISS building in Strasbourg, and the ADENAUER building in Luxembourg.

Also in Brussels, the Station Europe building will be illuminated with the colours of the yellow and blue Ukrainian flag until the end of today.

On 11 February 2025, the European Parliament's leadership issued a statement reiterating its "steadfast solidarity with the people of Ukraine, who continue to demonstrate extraordinary resilience and courage in defending their sovereignty, independence, and territorial integrity”.

MEPs are set to adopt a resolution on the EU’s continued and unwavering support for Ukraine during the next plenary session, on 12 March. The vote will wrap up a plenary debate held on 11 February.
